

UChicago Medicine Global Health Executive Training 2018 Managing the Hospital of the Future

June 25 - 29, 2018

OVERVIEW

The University of Chicago Medicine has been building new bridges to bring the best practices of the University of Chicago Medicine to the rest of the world. We are committed to supporting our international partners to improve clinical quality and operational effectiveness through customized programs.

This new executive training program is designed to share our expertise and best practices in hospital management with healthcare executives from all over the world. The classes will include practical day-to-day advice from the leaders who manage the daily operations of our medical center. The experts, who brought the industry best practice to the new hospital at the University of Chicago Medicine, will be lined up for lecture and discussions with you.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This program is designed primarily for top management and senior physician leaders in health care delivery organizations including, but are not limited to CEOs, COOs, CFOs, CMOs, CNOs, presidents, vice presidents, and other top senior executives. It also benefits government officers and agencies.
